

10 MILE AND HALF MARATHON TRAINING PROGRAMME

Train Your Body And Mind To Do It!

Distance: 10 miles and half marathon (13.1 miles)

The Get Kids Going! 10 mile and half marathon training programme has kindly been designed by the London Fitness Consultancy for all our runners. The programme is designed for complete beginners – starting out with a short jog up to a 10 mile or half marathon distance. It is also very useful for runners who run regularly and take part in a number of 10 mile runs or half marathons throughout the year. If you have taken up the challenge of running then please read this training programme to discover how you can train correctly and enjoy your running. The idea is to train the body and mind to do it and eliminate as many factors as possible that might stop you.

If you are already running on a regular basis then you can adapt the programme accordingly by fitting into the relevant week. If you are a beginner, this is a soft training programme whereby you can start slowly. You may also want to tell your GP of your intentions. You might be intending to walk or jog to achieve your distance so, be prepared to walk or jog in your training. Interval training is a great way to build up your fitness and distance. Please follow the guidelines given below. This 14 week programme will help you to achieve any distance up to a half marathon and conquer your running goals anywhere in the world! We hope you enjoy your training. If you need any help or advice please contact Get Kids Going! on tel; 0207 481 8110 or email - info@getkidsgoing.com

Fartlek - A Finnish word for Speed Play - which means going out for a run making it up as you go, mixing fast with slow, walk with run, hills with flat.

Interval Sessions/Training - These help to improve your fitness and increase your pace. Run them at a pace which means you can complete the session. For one minute efforts recover for one minute with a walk. Equate the recovery time to the effort time on the other sessions.
